

Online safety governor (Emma Rees) visited school to meet the representatives for online safety in each class.

The Online safety governor noted that:

“They already seem quite confident with a lot of the ideas around safe internet use which is really encouraging.”

Emma said:

“The first group meeting of the Online Safety Officers went very well. The children were enthusiastic and I was pleased to see that every child, from Reception to Year 6, had an input which was discussed within the group for both Key Stages.”
